TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN : AMI CLARKE

Over several years Friends of the Earth has been promoting the ecology, culture and significance of Lough Neagh.

With the artist Ami Clarke we have collaborated on creating concepts that will lead to a deeper understanding of Lough Neagh, its watershed, the international importance of the place and the communities of people who engage with the Lough.

With Ami Clarke we want to meet Lough Neagh on its own terms.

We find Ami's ideas enriching and vital to help shift our perspective of what Lough means. By engaging with her ideas we have already developed many fruitful and beneficial relationships that continue to grow and and evolve. Her approach can help us all deal with the one of the most important yet overlooked stories of Northern Ireland.
